Assignment: If you would like to receive a possible maximum of 5% extra credit on any exam I would like you to find one person or a small group of people to study with. You need to spend at least one hour studying together. It does not need to be one continuous hour, it can be in two half hour segments if that works better for you, but it cannot be less than a half hour at any one time. If you want to spend more time studying- great- but it is not required.

Assessment: In order to receive credit you must do the following things listed below.

1. This must be turned in the day of the exam at the beginning of the period. If it is not turned in before you take the exam, even though you may have done the assignment (i.e. you studied for the exam with a group of other students), no credit will be given. Sorry.
2. Record where you studied, when you studied, who you studied with, and how long you spent studying. Space is provided below for this information.
3. You must write at least a paragraph describing something you learned better (or for the first time) by doing this assignment. Give me the details about what you learned, i.e. be specific- a good, well written paragraph (or more if you have more to say!) is required for full credit. I am particularly interested if you found a good way of remembering something- a silly saying, a song, a mnemonic device, etc. Often times these things are the best study aids because they stick with you for the rest of the year and can help you on the final exam in April or the AP exam in May. Please write this paragraph on the back of this sheet.

Record the following information and turn this in on the day of the test.

1. Where did you study?
2. What day/date?

PUT YOUR NAME AND INFORMATION FIRST.

Make sure you include all the people who were at the study session. Your name should be the first name on the list.
